Investment Philosophy

The inauguration of Donald Trump has set the stage for a volatile period in global politics. Further uncertainty will come from UK Brexit plans as the date draws nearer for triggering article 50. Inevitably, these will feed through to volatility in the equity markets. But not yet - January's global markets were relatively benign, ending up 0.6% (with the FTSE, down 0.6%, being an exception). The Fund was down 0.4% over the month but is well positioned to thrive in an extended period of uncertainty.

January is always dominated by full year 2016 results announcements. Following a period of strong share price performance, our energy majors were weaker on results, underlining continued stress in the sector: Exxon Mobil fell 9%, and in anticipation of similar results BP and Shell were off about 6%. Taking the long view, this is not concerning. Asset sales across the majors have shored up cashflow as they prepare to re-invest into projects that will be profitable in a lower oil price environment.

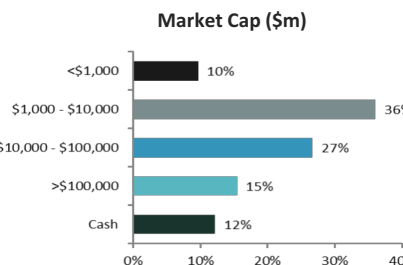

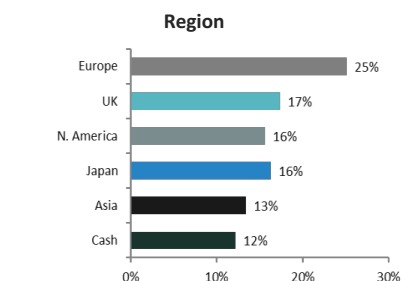

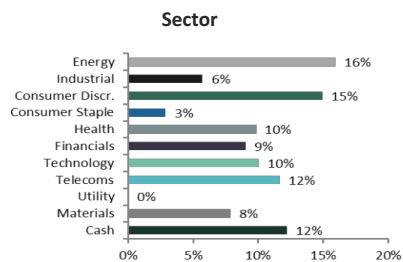

Canon Marketing released strong results and the share price has risen by over 10% in response. Games Workshop had excellent results too: the weak pound has helped their overseas trading. The share price is up from £4 in June to over £8 in January. We have reduced our position. We have exited Kingmaker (HK shoe manufacturer). The last 3 years has seen the company successfully increase margins (and earnings) which has been well-reflected in the price. We are happy to have taken some significant profits: over 4 years the share price has risen from around $0.80 to an average exit price of $2.30.

Kennox was established to focus exclusively on running the Strategic Value Fund, our value-driven global equities portfolio, for a limited number of risk-conscious investors who identify with our long term approach.

Our aim is to deliver good long term capital growth. We are not benchmarked and are not influenced by short term relative returns.

We look to uncover stocks that are significantly undervalued despite sound underlying business franchises and with asymmetric risk profiles – significant upside potential with limited downside risk – and hold these for the long term.

Portfolio Diversification

Our portfolio is concentrated, currently 29 stocks. We believe that excessive diversification is a poor surrogate for real knowledge of holdings. We consider the key to building a robust portfolio is to ensure that underlying profit drivers are not correlated, but truly diversified. In order to be added to the portfolio, a stock must complement existing holdings and not merely add to a concentration of risk.

Relative Performance

We focus on long-term, absolute performance, not on short-term relative returns.

We are not benchmarked.

Comparisons to the MSCI World and IA Global indices are for illustrative purposes only.

We would expect that Fund weightings (geographic, sector and market cap) may vary considerably from those of the MSCI and IA indices.

Track Record Description & Methodology

* The portfolio was launched in July 2007 ("Inception") in Australia as the Contrarian Global Value Fund. The Kennox investment team ran that fund from launch until September 2008. The Kennox Strategic Value Fund was launched in April 2009, comprising 19 of the 20 positions that existed in the Australia fund. We have assumed a static portfolio for the interim period.

Performance shown reflects total return of the Institutional Share class. Performance figures are generated from the accumulation shares since their launch on 29 April 2013. Prior to that performance figures are taken from an alternative share class, adjusted to reflect a 1.0% management fee throughout.

⁺ Sharpe Ratio is calculated as annualised return divided by the standard deviation of the excess return over the Libor 3m Bond yield.

⁺ Volatility is calculated as the standard deviation of the natural log returns multiplied by the square root of the periodicity of the returns.

[‡] Active Share is calculated by taking the sum of the absolute value of the differences of the weight of each holding in the portfolio versus the weight of each holding in the benchmark index and dividing by two.

Important Information

The information in this document does not constitute, or form part of, any offer to sell or issue, or any offer to purchase or subscribe for shares, nor shall this document or any part of it or the fact of its distribution form the basis of or be relied on in connection with any contract. Interests in any investment funds managed by Kennox Asset Management will be offered and sold only pursuant to the prospectus relating to such funds.

The Kennox Strategic Value Fund ("Fund") should be considered a long-term investment. You should be aware that the Fund is permitted to invest in markets which are not as well developed or regulated as the UK. As such, investments in those markets may be less liquid, and may have less reliable custody arrangements. Therefore, they may be prone to above average volatility and carry more risk. Where investments are made in smaller companies, these companies' shares may be less liquid than larger companies and the price swings may therefore be greater. You should remember that the value of investments and the income derived therefrom may fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount that you invest. Past performance is not a guide to future returns.

The Fund is denominated in £ sterling. You should be aware that if sterling appreciates or depreciates against the currencies in which investments are made, this could have an effect on the value of your investment. An investment in the Fund carries a degree of risk and retail investors should seek professional advice before investing in the Fund. Kennox has not taken any steps to ensure that the securities referred to in this document are suitable for any particular investor and no assurance can be given that the stated investment objectives will be achieved.
