

Performance Commentary

The Fund fell 0.6% in September (YTD up 1.5%), held back by sterling which significantly strengthened on a potential rise in interest rates. For reference sake, the MSCI was down 1.5% in the month.

The weakest stock over the month was Neopost after a very strong run up in the first half of this year. Its recent results show that operations and its strategy continue to be on track. Yamana also retreated from recent highs (alongside the price of gold) as worries over the situation in Korea abated. It is also worth noting that nine stocks that were up in local currency terms fell when measured in sterling.

Our clothing retailers lead the gainers this month, both up over 20% in sterling terms. Next's reported profits fell, as anticipated, but were better than expected. Mixed with a less negative outlook, this pushed the share price up significantly. The market reacted positively to Gap's strategic review, which promises to grow the strongly performing Old Navy chain. Retail is one of the least loved sectors on the planet (due especially to Amazon competition) but we feel our two holdings are well positioned to thrive. With expectations so low, even moderate news (as we've seen) can have a positive effect on share prices. The energy holdings were also strong. We reiterate that the investment case for the energy majors does not rely on the oil price but on buying blue-chip companies at attractive prices at an advantageous time in the cycle, ie when supply has been cut substantially. Deutsche Post also continues its strength after its results and an improved market sentiment. The company has become more highly valued and we sold a third of our holding in the month. It is now a 2% position.

Investment Philosophy

Kennox was established to focus exclusively on running the Strategic Value Fund, our value-driven global equities portfolio, for a limited number of risk-conscious investors who identify with our long term approach.

Our aim is to deliver good long term capital growth. We are not benchmarked and are not influenced by short term relative returns.

We look to uncover stocks that are significantly undervalued despite sound underlying business franchises and with asymmetric risk profiles – significant upside potential with limited downside risk – and hold these for the long term.

Portfolio Diversification

Our portfolio is concentrated, currently 31 stocks. We believe that excessive diversification is a poor surrogate for real knowledge of holdings. We consider the key to building a robust portfolio is to ensure that underlying profit drivers are not correlated, but truly diversified. In order to be added to the portfolio, a stock must complement existing holdings and not merely add to a concentration of risk.

Relative Performance

We focus on long-term, absolute performance, not on short-term relative returns.

We are not benchmarked.

Comparisons to the MSCI World and IA Global indices are for illustrative purposes only.

We would expect that Fund weightings (geographic, sector and market cap) may vary considerably from those of the MSCI and IA indices.

Track Record Description & Methodology

* The portfolio was launched in July 2007 ("Inception") in Australia as the Contrarian Global Value Fund. The Kennox investment team ran that fund from launch until September 2008. The Kennox Strategic Value Fund was launched in April 2009, comprising 19 of the 20 positions that existed in the Australia fund. We have assumed a static portfolio for the interim period.

Performance shown reflects total return of the Institutional Share class. Performance figures are generated from the accumulation shares since their launch on 29 April 2013. Prior to that performance figures are taken from an alternative share class, adjusted to reflect a 1.0% management fee throughout.

Sharpe Ratio is calculated as a Fund or Benchmark's excess return over Libor 3m Bonds (annualised) divided by the volatility of the Fund or Benchmark's returns

⁺ Volatility is calculated as the standard deviation of the natural log returns multiplied by the square root of the periodicity of the returns.

[‡] Active Share is calculated by taking the sum of the absolute value of the differences of the weight of each holding in the portfolio versus the weight of each holding in the benchmark index and dividing by two.

Important Information

The information in this document does not constitute, or form part of, any offer to sell or issue, or any offer to purchase or subscribe for shares, nor shall this document or any part of it or the fact of its distribution form the basis of or be relied on in connection with any contract. Interests in any investment funds managed by Kennox Asset Management will be offered and sold only pursuant to the prospectus relating to such funds.

The Kennox Strategic Value Fund ("Fund") should be considered a long-term investment. You should be aware that the Fund is permitted to invest in markets which are not as well developed or regulated as the UK. As such, investments in those markets may be less liquid, and may have less reliable custody arrangements. Therefore, they may be prone to above average volatility and carry more risk. Where investments are made in smaller companies, these companies' shares may be less liquid than larger companies and the price swings may therefore be greater. You should remember that the value of investments and the income derived therefrom may fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount that you invest. Past performance is not a guide to future returns.

The Fund is denominated in £ sterling. You should be aware that if sterling appreciates or depreciates against the currencies in which investments are made, this could have an effect on the value of your investment. An investment in the Fund carries a degree of risk and retail investors should seek professional advice before investing in the Fund. Kennox has not taken any steps to ensure that the securities referred to in this document are suitable for any particular investor and no assurance can be given that the stated investment objectives will be achieved.
