

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

In April, the Fund returned 4.3% in sterling terms (off 0.3% year to date). Despite excellent corporate earnings (especially in the US), global markets show no clear direction, and 10-year US bonds breaching a 3% yield could indicate a significant shift in the investment landscape. For reference sake, the MSCI World returned 3.1% in the month, and is off 1.7% year to date.

Our UK holdings led performance for the month (FTSE 100 was one of the strongest major markets). Tesco was the strongest stock in the portfolio rising 15% over the month on the back of the confirmation of the Booker deal, strong results and the reinstatement of the dividend. It is pleasing that our patience in Tesco is paying off, and new management’s steady strategy is bearing fruit. It is a 3.7% position. Similarly, our patience with the energy majors continues to be rewarded with three of our stocks up over 10% in the month (BP, Shell and Statoil). Sentiment in the sector is improving and their results showed good production growth, and strong profits and cash flows. We continue to see tailwinds for these companies, each representing more than 4.5% of the portfolio. Next’s share price was up 10% on results that were adequate but well-received by the market, showing how low expectations continue to be for that company. Having already trimmed on strength, it is a 2.3% position.

Canon Marketing Japan held the Fund back, as results didn’t meet the raised expectations. It had a very strong run through 2017, and we had consistently trimmed. It is currently a 2.5% position.

Track Record Description & Methodology

* The portfolio was launched in July 2007 ("Inception") in Australia as the Contrarian Global Value Fund. The Kennox investment team ran that fund from launch until September 2008. The Kennox Strategic Value Fund was launched in April 2009, comprising 19 of the 20 positions that existed in the Australia fund. We have assumed a static portfolio for the interim period.

Performance shown reflects total return of the Institutional Share class. Performance figures are generated from the accumulation shares since their launch on 29 April 2013. Prior to that performance figures are taken from an alternative share class, adjusted to reflect a 1.0% management fee throughout.

+ Sharpe Ratio is calculated as annualised return divided by the standard deviation of the excess return over the Libor 3m Bond yield.

+ Volatility is calculated as the standard deviation of the natural log returns multiplied by the square root of the periodicity of the returns.

Performance figures shown are total return with data for Kennox and the MSCI provided by Kennox/Bloomberg and IA Global data provided by Morningstar

Important Information

The information in this document does not constitute, or form part of, any offer to sell or issue, or any offer to purchase or subscribe for shares, nor shall this document or any part of it or the fact of its distribution form the basis of or be relied on in connection with any contract. Interests in any investment funds managed by Kennox Asset Management will be offered and sold only pursuant to the prospectus relating to such funds.

The Kennox Strategic Value Fund ("Fund") should be considered a long-term investment. You should be aware that the Fund is permitted to invest in markets which are not as well developed or regulated as the UK. As such, investments in those markets may be less liquid, and may have less reliable custody arrangements. Therefore, they may be prone to above average volatility and carry more risk. Where investments are made in smaller companies, these companies' shares may be less liquid than larger companies and the price swings may therefore be greater. You should remember that the value of investments and the income derived therefrom may fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount that you invest. Past performance is not a guide to future returns.

The Fund is denominated in £ sterling. You should be aware that if sterling appreciates or depreciates against the currencies in which investments are made, this could have an effect on the value of your investment. An investment in the Fund carries a degree of risk and retail investors should seek professional advice before investing in the Fund. Kennox has not taken any steps to ensure that the securities referred to in this document are suitable for any particular investor and no assurance can be given that the stated investment objectives will be achieved.
