

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

The Fund rose in January, up 2.2%, with the majority of holdings posting positive returns. Global markets have been somewhat perkier in January too, rising 4.7% led by the US, after experiencing heavy losses in the fourth quarter of 2018.

Our UK retail holdings led the portfolio. Next posted reasonable Christmas sales figures (it is always nice when reasonable results are sufficient to drive significant gains) and the shares were up over 20% in January. Similarly, Tesco results were well received, and after its 12th straight quarter of like for like sales growth, the shares were up 17%. Elsewhere, Texwinca (the Chinese manufacturer of high-end performance fabrics for global clothes retailers) was up 14% after a weak month in December and Yamana (a Canadian gold miner) was up 16% as it announced that production volumes had exceeded expectations for 2018, with costs remaining in-line.

One of the biggest drags on performance was a drop of 4% in our largest holding Newmont Mining. The shares dipped mid-month as it announced the acquisition of Goldcorp (the price has since recovered). Whilst we don't typically favour growth through acquisition, the deal looks sensible (it pairs Newmont's strong production with Goldcorp's attractive reserves) and has been done as Goldcorp's shares have languished (essentially at 15-year lows). We remain comfortable with Newmont as our largest position. Neopost (a French customer communication business) was also weak (down 10%) as it announced a re-focussing of the business on a smaller number of initiatives where it has material scale. There is inevitably some execution risk as Neopost re-positions its portfolio of businesses, but the valuations more than offset this risk as the business is expected to generate c. €200m in EBIT in 2019 against a current market cap of under €800m.

Track Record Description & Methodology

* The portfolio was launched in July 2007 ("Inception") in Australia as the Contrarian Global Value Fund. The Kennox investment team ran that fund from launch until September 2008. The Kennox Strategic Value Fund was launched in April 2009, comprising 19 of the 20 positions that existed in the Australia fund. We have assumed a static portfolio for the interim period.

Performance shown reflects total return of the Institutional Share class. Performance figures are generated from the accumulation shares since their launch on 29 April 2013. Prior to that performance figures are taken from an alternative share class, adjusted to reflect a 1.0% management fee throughout.

+ Sharpe Ratio is calculated as annualised return divided by the standard deviation of the excess return over the Libor 3m Bond yield.

+ Volatility is calculated as the standard deviation of the natural log returns multiplied by the square root of the periodicity of the returns.

Performance figures shown are total return with data for Kennox and the MSCI provided by Kennox/Bloomberg and IA Global data provided by Morningstar

Important Information

The information in this document does not constitute, or form part of, any offer to sell or issue, or any offer to purchase or subscribe for shares, nor shall this document or any part of it or the fact of its distribution form the basis of or be relied on in connection with any contract. Interests in any investment funds managed by Kennox Asset Management will be offered and sold only pursuant to the prospectus relating to such funds.

The Kennox Strategic Value Fund ("Fund") should be considered a long-term investment. You should be aware that the Fund is permitted to invest in markets which are not as well developed or regulated as the UK. As such, investments in those markets may be less liquid, and may have less reliable custody arrangements. Therefore, they may be prone to above average volatility and carry more risk. Where investments are made in smaller companies, these companies' shares may be less liquid than larger companies and the price swings may therefore be greater. You should remember that the value of investments and the income derived therefrom may fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount that you invest. Past performance is not a guide to future returns.

The Fund is denominated in £ sterling. You should be aware that if sterling appreciates or depreciates against the currencies in which investments are made, this could have an effect on the value of your investment. An investment in the Fund carries a degree of risk and retail investors should seek professional advice before investing in the Fund. Kennox has not taken any steps to ensure that the securities referred to in this document are suitable for any particular investor and no assurance can be given that the stated investment objectives will be achieved.
