

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

The Fund was up 1.9% in March. For reference sake, the MSCI World was up 3.5% in sterling terms, and the markets continue to be buoyed by the return to “risk on” after the difficult second half of 2018.

Over the month, Newmont Mining, the largest stock in the portfolio, contributed the most to the performance of the Fund. There was a small flurry of activity in the gold sector, amongst which was Barrick attempting unsuccessfully to bid for Newmont. Instead, it looks like Newmont’s bid for Goldcorp, at a very reasonable price versus its history, will be successful, and Barrick and Newmont will combine their assets in Nevada into a cost-saving joint venture. These moves seem sensible to us, and the tailwinds in the industry continue to be strong. Also performing in the month were Next, as Brexit and retail worries so far appear excessive, and Swisscom, helped by a strong currency.

Holding the Fund back this month were Sky NZ and Neopost, both slightly weaker over the course of the month. In both cases, there are questions in the market about how long their headwinds will last. We continue to believe that the market is far too pessimistic for the outlook for these companies. In Sky’s case, for instance, the market’s price for the company implies a large drop in both earnings and cash flow with no recovery. Whilst we believe that there are risks to Sky’s business, we also think that its customer base, distribution channels and contacts with global media providers offers an attractive package to their customers. It is very inexpensive at present and would look cheaper to a competitor to buy than to build from scratch. These situations do not tend to last.

RELATIVE PERFORMANCE

We focus on long-term, absolute performance, not on short-term relative returns.

We are not benchmarked.

Comparisons to the MSCI World, MSCI World Value and IA Global indices are for illustrative purposes only.

We would expect that Fund weightings (geographic, sector and market cap) may vary considerably from those of the MSCI and IA indices.

Track Record Description & Methodology

* The portfolio was launched in July 2007 ("Inception") in Australia as the Contrarian Global Value Fund. The Kennox investment team ran that fund from launch until September 2008. The Kennox Strategic Value Fund was launched in April 2009, comprising 19 of the 20 positions that existed in the Australia fund. We have assumed a static portfolio for the interim period.

Performance shown reflects total return of the Institutional Share class. Performance figures are generated from the accumulation shares since their launch on 29 April 2013. Prior to that performance figures are taken from an alternative share class, adjusted to reflect a 1.0% management fee throughout.

+ Sharpe Ratio is calculated as annualised return divided by the standard deviation of the excess return over the Libor 3m Bond yield.

+ Volatility is calculated as the standard deviation of the natural log returns multiplied by the square root of the periodicity of the returns.

Performance figures shown are total return with data for Kennox and the MSCI provided by Kennox/Bloomberg and IA Global data provided by Morningstar

Important Information

The information in this document does not constitute, or form part of, any offer to sell or issue, or any offer to purchase or subscribe for shares, nor shall this document or any part of it or the fact of its distribution form the basis of or be relied on in connection with any contract. Interests in any investment funds managed by Kennox Asset Management will be offered and sold only pursuant to the prospectus relating to such funds.

The Kennox Strategic Value Fund ("Fund") should be considered a long-term investment. You should be aware that the Fund is permitted to invest in markets which are not as well developed or regulated as the UK. As such, investments in those markets may be less liquid, and may have less reliable custody arrangements. Therefore, they may be prone to above average volatility and carry more risk. Where investments are made in smaller companies, these companies' shares may be less liquid than larger companies and the price swings may therefore be greater. You should remember that the value of investments and the income derived therefrom may fall as well as rise and you may not get back the amount that you invest. Past performance is not a guide to future returns.

The Fund is denominated in £ sterling. You should be aware that if sterling appreciates or depreciates against the currencies in which investments are made, this could have an effect on the value of your investment. An investment in the Fund carries a degree of risk and retail investors should seek professional advice before investing in the Fund. Kennox has not taken any steps to ensure that the securities referred to in this document are suitable for any particular investor and no assurance can be given that the stated investment objectives will be achieved.
